

Thoughts For The Quiet Hour

REV. G. W. KEMPER, D.D.

"It matters not how straight the gate,
How charged with punishment the scroll—
I am the master of my fate,
I am the captain of my soul."

A little newboy was crying the afternoon papers. A prospective customer asked for one, and the little fellow confessed he "had just sold out," another "newbie" dashed up, offering the desired paper, and in a rollicking tone said: "Tain't no use hollerin' what you hain't got—is there, mister?"

We sometimes rave and rant about the destructive critics in their attacks upon the Bible and in their attempts to undermine faith in its teachings, but, after all, can there be anything more destructive of the Book than professional Christians living a life of empty phrases? The world given little heed to the Book, as we well know, but is watching carefully the daily life of those who profess to believe in it, and whose lives are supposed to be conformed to its teachings. Hence we need more of the "real article of religion" in our everyday life. That's the kind that tells, and the only kind that will bring results. "Tain't no use hollerin' what you hain't got!" A tree is known always by its fruits.

"Remember the week-day to keep it holy." Here we have the keynote of the religion of Jesus, who went about every day, everywhere, doing good. And whenever the time comes in your life and mine when we can put into actual practice what is embraced in these words, then there will be no trouble in our preaching a "winsome Christianity" and carry about with us every day in the week the feelings we have when our hearts are specially touched as we listen to the voice of the minister when he bids us live the life that is "hid with Christ in God."

The religion of Jesus Christ is not a dismal thing. There is nothing that so lessens life's burdens and sorrows and fears. It offers infinite peace and comfort and hope. It finds the sorrowful and dries their tears. It whispers truest consolations into the ears of the suffering. It teaches men glad endurance and inspires them with cheerful courage.

Do you know the blessedness of being right with God? You cannot, unless you have been to the cross of Christ. Do you experience the rapture of Christian service? Impossible, unless you have been busy in His vineyard. Seek to gladden and strengthen the early years of the children; do your best to relieve someone's heavy burden; help some poor fellow to a better life, and you will then discover what the very joy of heaven is like.

In the list of the fruits of the spirit, love has been given first place by the inspired writer. But joy stands second. When a man has been forgiven and restored he finds the only perfect and abiding joy that can be found on this earth. Be happy, be content, be joyful! Your Christian life and experience will then have a different meaning to you. The sincere Christian has the best right in the world to be happy, and he will show his happiness to the world in a life full of joy and SERVICE!

INCORPORATED

The Famous Week of Sales
Starts Monday, October 6th
And Continues Throughout the Week

THE experience of thousands who have come in intimate touch with Lowenstein's Week of Sales know the realness of this one sale of the year. They know the values of which it is made. They know its personality and its difference—and the care with which Lowenstein's guards it on every side. They know its originality and its genuineness. They have confidence, and their confidence has been contagious, until last October, 1918, a mighty climax was reached—in attendance and in sales—a climax that one would have reason to believe would stand for many years, and yet such energy was set in motion immediately, and has been kept up so persistently, that now, at the threshold of Lowenstein's 1919 Annual Week of Sales it is reasonably certain that last year's record will be broken.

Alabamians Will

Eat Barbecue

And Chase Fox

If you want to have a real good time and hear a series of fine fox chases, put yourself where Dr. John H. Masterson, of Leighton, Ala., will have a chance to invite you to the annual fox hunt and barbecue which his LaGrange Red Fox Hunting club will hold on Oct. 14-15, on the ridge south of that beautiful hunting preserve at Leighton, Ala.

No man in all the land loves a fox chase better than does Dr. Masterson, and he has for years been the central figure for a lot of Alabama gentlemen who love the chase. And like all real good fox hunters, they love for all who enjoy the sport to share it with them.

Two years ago Dr. Masterson organized a hunting club and succeeded in a tract of land on the mountain so as to have a rallying ground for all good fox hunters. The club has since then been successful in its efforts to maintain the reds of those mountains are deep of chest and will test the heart of any dog.

Fines in Police

Court Collected

Exceed Records

Fines collected in city court for September totaled a total of $14,750, exceeding probably the record for any one month in the history of the city. The average is maintained for the preceding month, which was $13,850, which was the record up to that time.

The total for the nine months of this year is $56,612.85, which far exceeds the aggregate for any entire preceding year. If the average is maintained for the remaining three months the city court will reap a harvest of approximately $17,000 for the year. Following are the totals for the last three years: 1918, $13,743.48; 1917, $17,478.20; 1916, $40,327.85.

State's Attorney
Suggests Seizure
Of Small Arms

S. O. Bates, state's attorney, Saturday morning addressed letters to Sheriff Perry and Chief Burney of the police department, requesting them to confiscate all firearms illegally held in stores in Memphis.

This action, Mr. Bates says, is taken to prevent people from arming themselves unlawfully. While there is no indication that trouble will arise, Mr. Bates says he wishes to prevent its possibility.

Sheriff Perry said Saturday that he would consult his attorney and find out his rights to confiscate the arms before taking any action.

Chief Burney will await an opinion from H. J. Livingston, city attorney, before taking any action to seize pistols in local gun stores and pawn shops.

Chief Burney will detail men to make a thorough canvass of gun stores, to pistols and other dangerous small firearms. It is not unlawful to sell shotguns and rifles for hunting purposes.

EPWORTH LEAGUE PLANS
MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN

The Memphis conference Epworth League has planned to conduct a membership campaign during the month of October. The objective of the membership drive is to enroll 1,000 new members. This is the first conference-wide membership campaign ever attempted by the Memphis conference and much interest is being taken in the movement.

There are eight districts in the Memphis conference, which includes West Tennessee and a portion of West Kentucky. The district secretaries will be responsible for the success of the campaign. It will be the duty of each district secretary to see that a membership drive is held in each local league in the district. The district which increases its membership the greatest percentage will receive a beautiful banner.

The campaign will open the first Sunday in October and will close the last Sunday in that month. Reports from the league presidents and the district secretaries will be sent to W. R. Brown, conference secretary, at the Memphis conference, which are expected to take part in this membership drive.

Plans for the campaign in Memphis were outlined Friday night at a meeting of the City Epworth League union held at St. Paul's Methodist church.

At this meeting Horace Kelly, vice-president of the union, was elected president to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of W. R. Brown, who is in college this year. Mrs. Mary J. Bumgarner was elected secretary, Stanton Rogers, treasurer, and P. H. Fairleigh, press correspondent, to fill other vacancies.

The Rev. William Crowe, D.D., pastor of Idlewild Presbyterian church, made an inspiring address and a good musical program was rendered.
